

CENTER FOR HEALTHY AGING

The Center for Healthy Aging is a new program within the Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences at TCU. The Center will provide support for healthy aging initiatives with emphasis on older adults, their families, and their caregivers. The Center will support research, provide educational opportunities for the TCU and local communities, and develop TCU curriculum programs with a gerontological focus.

Our vision:

To promote, celebrate and value healthy aging and quality of life for older adults.
